RESPONSE

This responds to the Office action dated February 13, 2006. Claims 1-53 are pending in the application. The Examiner has divided the claims into six groups and required an election of one group under 35 U.S.C. § 121. Table 1 below shows the claim groups as currently restricted by the Examiner.

Group I	Claims 1, 2, 4, 14-17, 27-30, and 42-51
Group II	Claims 3
Group III	Claim 5-8, 18-21, 31-34, 52, and 53
Group IV	Claims 9-11, 22-24, and 35-37
Group V	Claims 12-13, 25-26, and 38-39
Group VI	Claims 40 and 41

Table 1

Applicants elect Group III with traverse.

The Present Application Should Be Examined in its Entirety Because Such Examination Can Be Made Without Serious Burden

According to M.P.E.P. § 803, "If the search and examination of an entire application can be made without serious burden, the examiner must examine it on the merits, even though it includes claims to independent or distinct inventions." Applicants have reviewed the application and have concluded that examination of the entire application can be made without serious burden. For example, four Office actions (mailed 12/23/03, 8/12/04, 3/29/05, and 7/21/05) had already been issued prior to the present Office action. Each Office action included claim-by-claim rejections. Therefore, the Examiner has already examined each claim so further examination should not warrant serious burden. Furthermore, two of Applicants' responses to the Office actions, including the most recent response, included no claim amendments. As such, continued examination of the claims that have already been fully examined at least once (and, for many of the claims, multiple times) should pose no serious burden on the Examiner. Accordingly, Applicants respectfully traverse the restriction requirement.

The Present Application Should Be Examined in its Entirety Because All of the Claims Recite a Similar Term

Applicants respectfully submit that all of the claims in the present application recite either "connectivity strength," "connectivity," or "number of connections." Since all of the claims recite one of these three similar terms, Applicants respectfully submit that the application should be examined in its entirety. Accordingly, Applicants respectfully traverse the restriction requirement.

Claim Groups I, II, III, and IV Should At Least Be Examined Together Because All of the Claims in These Groups Have an Identical Term in Common

Although all of the claims should be examined together for reasons explained above, the Examiner's separation of claims of groups I, II, III, and IV into separate groups should not be done. Claims of these groups should be combined because all of the claims in these groups recite the identical term "connectivity strength." Accordingly, these claims should all be examined with the elected group III claims by the Examiner in the unlikely event that the Examiner disagrees with the above reasons for examination of all of the claims.

Conclusion

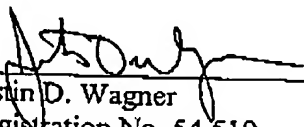

Applicants respectfully submit that the present application is in condition for allowance and such action is respectfully requested.
